On Friday, Josh brought snakes, lizards, frogs, turtles and a baby crocodile to our school. We have been learning about reptiles in class. The baby crocodile had tape around its mouth so it couldn't bite us! The snake was scaly and it felt hard and rocky. When the snake poked out his ‘y’ shaped tongue it made a hissing sound. We were surprised that the reptiles didn’t smell. It was excellent and fantastic to have these reptiles at school and to learn all about them.
